FROM THE RECTOR...

Fr. Pat Moroney O.M.I

The 40th Anniversary at Crown Palladium was an outstanding success and was a truly representative gathering of former students, staff and parents from the different eras including the present.

There were over 600 guests at the Ball, with former students ranging from the foundation year of the College to those just recently graduated. For many of those present, it was the first time they had met some of their classmates since they left Mazenod many years ago. There was a marvellous spirit of comradeship and celebration and it was a pleasure to see that many of the ‘old boys’ were accompanied by their wives and partners.

The venue was ideal with ample space to stand around, mix and gather in small groups to reminisce and swap stories, past and present.

One of the highlights for many was the opportunity to meet former teachers, some of whom have been at the College for close on 30 years.

I am appreciative of the many staff that chose to attend and for them it was also a wonderfully affirmative night as they met so many young men whom they had taught and who were without exception generous in their expressions of gratitude and appreciation.

An unusual aspect of the evening was the presence of all the Rectors since the foundation of the College: Fr James FitzPatrick, Fr John Sherman, Fr Kevin Davine, Fr Ian Mackintosh and myself.

My sincere thanks to Gerard Whately (class of ‘92) who so generously and successfully acted as our Master of Ceremonies for the evening, and to Tony Pane (class of ‘78) who kindly agreed to speak on behalf of all former students. We are indebted to both of these men for their generosity and support. My thanks also to the student members of the College stage band who performed so well on the night.

May I offer special acknowledgement and thanks to Mr Steve Putrino of the College staff for his vast work in organizing the Ball and for the ‘old boys’ committee who assisted him. Without Steve and his associates, not only may it not have been the success it was, it might never have taken place.

Needless to say, the College has changed dramatically over the years and today it is a beautifully equipped and very up to date successful educational institution. Our newest facility was opened at the beginning of the year and comprises a magnificent Music/Drama Wing and incorporates also a new Computer Control and Administrative Centre. It was built at a cost of close to $5,000,000. This year also saw the relocation of the Year 7 facilities and the Technology Centre.

So much has changed and there is so much to see for those who have not been at the College for some years. We are holding a Return to Mazenod Day for all former students and their families on Sunday August 26th. It will be an open day beginning from 1.00 pm to 5.00 pm and all are invited to come and celebrate, meet old friends and be our guests at a day long Barbeque. For those who wish to attend there will be a Mass in the College Chapel at 2.00pm We very warmly invite all our former Mazenodians to return for the occasion and look forward to catching up.

God Bless
Fr. Pat Moroney, O.M.I

SOME SNAPS FROM MAZENOD’S 40TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION AT THE CROWN PALLADIUM BALLROOM
Committed to the Pursuit of Excellence

Mazenod College is justifiably proud of the 2006 VCE Class, who achieved excellent results in a well-rounded community. 40% of the class received an Enter Score of 90+, with 65% achieving 80+ and 80% achieving 70+, as well as significant VCAL and VET success.

This success is the result of an educational journey that began years previously when the students arrived in Year 7. The students’ success has much to do with the relationship between Student, Family and College. This partnership is crucial. There are extensive special programmes with qualified staff focussed on catering to the requirements of boys with special needs, both in the area of learning difficulties, but also in the area of the gifted and talented.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND OBITUARIES

The Mazenod Old Collegians Cricket Club

The Mazenod Old Collegians Cricket Club celebrated a successful 2006/2007 season with two premierships, a further two sides in Grand Finals and five of the club’s six sides making the finals.

The First XI capped off a successful season by capturing the B Turf Premiership and now moves up into A Grade in the Eastern Cricket Association. In only their second year of competition, Mazenod Veterans, had two sides in the finals and Mazenod Blue, made up of many Mazenod old boys, captured the D Grade Flag.

The club is keen to build on the success of last season and is always on the lookout for new players; in particular junior players as we attempt to develop at least one junior side in the upcoming season. The club presents a great opportunity for students and their friends to interact in an enjoyable environment and to develop strong friendships. Should you be interested in playing please contact President Mick Le Grand on 0434 420 688 or mickl@instrat.com.au or check out the club website www.moccc.com.au

What are some of our Old Boys up to?

Chris Ciriello (2003)

Chris is a rising hockey star. The Victorian Institute of Sport snapped him up when he was 18 and in 2007 he was named in the National Development Squad for hockey.

He hopes to be selected to play with the Kookaburras at the Beijing Olympics in 2008. His dedication to the sport and his commitment to training for selection to the team give him confidence that he can make it into the Olympic team. In 2006, he was a member of the Australian team that won silver at the Junior World Cup in Holland. Early this year, he competed for Australia in the five exhibition matches between Australia A and China.

At State level, Chris plays for Doncaster and in the Australia Hockey league he plays for the Victorian Vikings. He thrives on the pressure and competitiveness at the elite level and the sacrifices such commitment requires. He has chosen to defer his Remedial Therapy Degree at the Australian College of Natural Therapy to undertake the demanding training for selection to the Olympic Games.

Gerard McCulloch (1991)

Gerard is making a name as a comedy writer and comedian.

He has been a successful comedy writer for Rove, Skithouse and Full Frontal and contributes ideas to Rove McManus’s monologues and satirical comments on topical issues.

His recent stand-up comedy routines have met with great acclaim. He was a Barry Award nominee in 2005 for his routine, Just a Few Notes, and recently won a Barry Award for his first Edinburgh Festival stand-up routine, An Englishman, An Irishman and A Scotsman- Exposed. Gerard recently said that his hunger for performing stand-up comedy comes from writing for Rove Live for the past two years.

He recently performed his stand-up comedy at the Melbourne International Festival in April this year and his show at the Melbourne Fringe Festival, Gerry of Arabia, was a sell-out.

Simon de Bruyn (1997)

Simon completed his Bachelor of Communication (Journalism) from Monash University in 2002. He now works full time as a reporter and sub-editor with the Financial Standard, a financial newspaper in Sydney.

Michael and Paul Booth (1991)

Michael graduated from Mazenod in 1991 and went into IT for a number of years with Sensis.

He decided to change direction and completed an MBA and has now taken up a Management Consultant position in New York with McAnsey.

He still manages to catch up with classmates, Brendan Quinn, Matt O’Keeffe and recently enjoyed Gerard McCulloch’s comedy hit, Gerry of Arabia. Michael’s brother, Paul, continues to travel the world of high finance, and is based in London with Solomon, Smith and Barney.

Les Vella (1973)

Les was a student at Mazenod from 1967 – 1969.

He has worked as a supervisor in a warehouse and been with the same company for 34 years and continues to enjoy his work there.

Thomas Ryan (1984)

Thomas received a Commendation for Brave Conduct from the Governor for an incident in 2002 when he helped to disarm a woman who had stabbed two people in central Melbourne.

Tom and two other men had the courage to disarm the woman after a lengthy struggle and were able to restrain her until police arrived at the scene.

Congratulations on your award for such an unselfish deed.
What are some of our Old Boys up to?

Peter Vanstan (1988)

Peter currently holds the position of Principal at St Joseph’s Primary School, Yarra Junction. He began his teaching career at St Michael’s, Deniliquin. It was here that he met his wife, Prue. He relocated to Mount Macedon where he and his wife married and last year celebrated their 10th wedding anniversary. He worked at a number of schools in the area and also returned to university to complete a Bachelor of Education and a Masters in Educational Leadership and Administration. These qualifications assisted him in obtaining Deputy Principal roles at Catholic schools in Lancefield and West Melton. In 2004, Peter was appointed the Principal of St Joseph’s Primary School, Yarra Junction. He and Prue have two children, Tara (5 years) and Patrick (19 months).

Clayton Buckley (1980)

After leaving Mazenod College, Clayton started work as a management trainee at Kraft in Port Melbourne and commenced studying part time at Swinburne Institute of Technology for a Bachelor of Economics Degree. After graduating, Clayton pursued a career in marketing which has seen him work all over Australia and across the world. After leaving Victoria in 1988, he worked in Perth, Western Australia for 5 years, then Sydney for another 5 years. In 1988, he was transferred overseas and worked in Amsterdam, Hamburg, Cape Town and South Africa. After a brief return to his home in Queensland to race his Porsche, Clayton moved back overseas to the Middle East and currently resides in Saudi Arabia. He is now in charge of the marketing operations of the world’s largest dairy company. Clayton’s brother, Sean, runs the family business, and is the executive chairman of Ultra Tune. He has two daughters and the family lives in Toorak. His passion is race horses and he has a large horse stud just outside of Melbourne near Kyneton. He is the owner of the brilliant sprinter ‘Miss Andretti’, which recently won the ‘King’s Stand Stakes’ at Royal Ascot. Sean, did you get a chance to bow before Her Majesty, the Queen?

Andrew Carrazzo (2000)

Andrew played his 50th game for Carlton in May this year. His football career developed at Mazenod. He stood out as a player with the TAC Cup side, the Oakleigh Chargers. He joined the Blues as a rookie in 2004 after two years on Geelong’s rookie list where he played in the VFL for Geelong and won the club’s Best and Fairest in 2003. He found it impossible to break into the Geelong senior list and when the club let him go, he was determined to let the public know that he could play. Denis Pagan, the Carlton Coach has recently praised Andrew for his desire to succeed and his willingness to learn quickly. Last year he managed 20 possessions in 12 of his 19 games and this year he has averaged 12 kicks, nine handballs and five tackles a game.

Michael Neill (1994)

Michael graduated from Mazenod in 1994 and then studied Biomedical Engineering at Monash University. In 2004, he completed a Diploma of Education at Australia Catholic University. In 2005, he took up a position at St Joseph’s College, Ferntree Gully teaching Maths and Physics. He currently is the Science Coordinator and Assistant Year 12 Coordinator at the College. He recently married Marlya and they now live in Hallam.

Benn Weston (1997)

In 2004, Benn took up a post in the Scotland with a large engineering consultancy. He enjoyed working in Europe and the chances the work provided for travel around Europe. It gave him the chance to catch up with an old friend, Peter Luczak on the tennis circuit in England. In 2006, he returned to Australia and now works for TJH at the Bangholme office.
What are some of our Old Boys up to?

Giuseppe Carollo (1996)

After finishing Year 12, Giuseppe decided that a Computer Science degree at Monash Clayton would allow him to further pursue his childhood interest in computers. After university, he started working in Shell Australia’s IT Department as a programmer/web developer. Over the next few years, Giuseppe spent some time on small business trips to Shell offices in Malaysia and the Philippines working on various IT projects. It was at Shell that he met his future wife, Susan. Giuseppe was offered a job in Shell Netherlands to work on a finance system and in late 2003 he and Susan moved there. They spent a year there and were married in January 2005 in Melbourne on an annual trip home.

After a honeymoon in Malaysia, they moved to London for a year, with a transfer to Shell UK, where Giuseppe worked on a European-wide Retail IT Project. He did some further study while in London to help his career and after a year, they then returned to The Netherlands where Giuseppe is currently running a global IT project for Shell’s Exploration business. He is keen for his next IT project to be based in Asia, The Americas or Russia so that they can experience another part of the world. Recently, he and Susan were overjoyed with the arrival of their daughter, Sofia, who was born in The Netherlands. They look forward to showing off her to family and friends when they next visit Australia in November. Although travelling the world can seem glamorous, the expectations in the office are high and work fills a majority of his time. Giuseppe misses his family, friends and the Australian lifestyle, and in a few years he will return so Sofia can grow up in Australia.

Matthew Boyd (2000)

Matthew plays for the Western Bulldogs and has worked hard on his football career since leaving school. His current success with the Bulldogs in 2006-7 reflects the commitment to training and hard work that the club’s coach, Rodney Eade, particularly noticed in recent press coverage. His career has been built around his steady determination to break into AFL football. At the end of his U18 season with the Dandenong Stingrays he spoke to the Bulldogs and trained with Richmond, but the draft pick that year never amounted to much for Matthew. The following year he played at Frankston in the Reserves.

He also began his Commerce degree at this time. Matthew’s career picked up when Scott Clayton, the Bulldogs Recruitment Manager, plucked him from the Frankston Seconds and he was placed on the rookies list for the Bulldogs and Scott West and has demonstrated a strong work ethic and an iron will to succeed. He stayed there for 2 years, playing with the Werribee Seniors and was the sole survivor of a rookie-list cull. In 2003 his chance to make his debut with the Bulldogs came early in the season when some of the senior players were injured. His confidence in his football skills has grown over the years and by 2006 he felt really part of the team, playing every game that year with an average of 20 touches a match, second in effective tackles and third in handball gets. He was 6th in the Bulldogs 2006 Best and Fairest. 2007 is proving to be just as successful a season. He plays as a midfielder with Daniel Clayton, the Bulldogs 2006 Best and Fairest. 2007 was Peter's second time entry in the main draw at the French Open. Unfortunately, he lost in the first round. However, he has recently won four tournaments in the last 3 months.

In 2006 he got to the third round and in 2007 he got to the second round of the tournament. Peter's progress in tennis has been helped by his acceptance into the Australia Institute of Tennis program in London that includes a travelling coach. He believes that his attitude to tennis has also developed with the responsibility of fatherhood. He believes that it has broadened his outlook on life and that winning is not everything. 2006 was a challenging year for him. He got pneumonia in May and this put him out of action for several months. Soon after he and his wife had a baby.

Peter Luczak (1997)

Peter is well known to all Australian Tennis lovers. He recently was a wildcard entry into the French Open and has enjoyed considerable success on the Clay Challengers Circuit. He has made the semi-finals of his past three clay tournaments. 2007 was Peter’s second time entry in the main draw at the French Open. Unfortunately, he lost in the first round. However, he has recently won four tournaments in the last 3 months.

Playing on the ATP Challenger tour, Peter has just won his second title in two weeks, winning the $50,000 championship in the Polish city of Bytom. This lifted his world ranking to 98, putting him, Hewitt and Guccione in the first 100. Clay is his favourite surface and he feels most comfortable on it. Peter has played in the Australian Open in the last two years as a wildcard entry.

In 2006 he got to the third round and in 2007 he got to the second round of the tournament. Peter’s progress in tennis has been helped by his acceptance into the Australia Institute of Tennis program in London that includes a travelling coach. He believes that his attitude to tennis has also developed with the responsibility of fatherhood. He believes that it has broadened his outlook on life and that winning is not everything. 2006 was a challenging year for him. He got pneumonia in May and this put him out of action for several months. Soon after he and his wife had a baby.

Peter, now 27, was born in Warsaw, Poland, and after his family moved to Australia, he learned to play tennis on the en tous cas courts of Melbourne which gave him the feel for the style of game required for clay. Peter now lives in Sweden with his wife, Katarina, and son, Sebastian.
a night to re-unite, reflect and celebrate
What a great night! For those who managed to get a ticket to the 40th Anniversary Dinner and Ball at Crown Palladium catching up with old friends, teachers, students and parents was definitely an occasion to remember. Gerard Whately as MC showed why he is so fantastic on radio, witty, clever and spot on with many of his observations. The music, by the College Band, was just right. Well done on a very professional job. Only 10 more years until the next one. Can’t wait! - Peter Astin

Table 4 was a little surprising - front and centre - not somewhere the Miller triplets, Tim O’Kane, Julian Sonego, Dom Wilkinson, Luke Marmo or myself would have all sat too many times in a class room before. Many old and new faces were evident for such a gala event - Mark Goudie clearly the best dressed from the year of 1991. It was especially pleasing to see many of Mazenod’s old teachers in attendance - one of Mazenod’s finest maths teachers in Mrs Dickenson and one of Mazenod’s finest cricket coaches in Mr Mc Allister - along with a throng of Mazenod’s spiritual leaders in the oblates who shaped us through our schooling years.

The highlight of the night was Brian Miller’s approach to Father Bill Ousley was classical. Brain - winner of many Christian leadership awards (just ask him he’ll tell you) - tried to stump Bill with a few old quotes. “A fool gets a fools reward” and “Act the man not the fool”, when he was stopped in his tracks by the man himself with - “Don’t wait to be a great man - be a great boy Brian.”

Although some others thought the highlight of the night was Collingwood’s victory over the Fremantle Dockers. Food = good, drinks = plenty, company = great, memories = sketchy!! - Justin Fisher

As part of the 40th Anniversary celebration, an open day will be held on Sunday 26th August, 2007, beginning from 1.00PM to 5.00PM
I started at Mazenod in 1968 at St. Joseph’s Springvale as one of 120 students. We moved to the Mulgrave site mid-year. When I left the school in 1973, 2 new science labs were the pride of the school. Since then I have had two sons graduate from Mazenod with student numbers of over 1000. Thanks to the Parish Priests and the Oblates for their vision. Thanks to those pioneer parents for your faith and trust. Thanks to the pioneer students for great memories. The Anniversary Dinner was a memorable night reflecting how proud we are of the College and each other. “Leave Nothing Undared” - Shane Regan

The celebration of Mazenod’s forty years held at the Crown Palladium was a night to remember. The joy for staff in meeting countless numbers of former students was quite overwhelming. Following the sometimes difficult “identification process” lively conversations flowed on until the early hours of the morning, with pleasant reminiscing and memorable events being recalled. For staff to see our former students happy and settled in their world beyond Mazenod was in itself a most uplifting and fulfilling experience - Danny Kennelly

You are all welcome to join us, Mass will be celebrated at 2.00 pm in the College Chapel, followed by a viewing of the College and a barbeque.

George Calombaris (1996)

George has built a reputation as one of the outstanding chefs in Melbourne. He started an apprenticeship at Sofitel, Melbourne in 1997. He then worked for Raymond Capellin and Gary Michigan at Felix and represented Australia at Bocuse D’Or, an international cooking competition in France. He has collected a number of awards and his reputation has grown over the years. In 2004, he became Chef de Cuisine of Reserve at Federation Square and was judged the Young Chef of the Year in the Age Good Food Guide and made Global Food and Wine Magazine’s list as one of 40 top chefs of influence around the world. His cuisine at Reserve attracted much attention and was inspired by George’s study of molecular gastronomy, an experimental movement in cooking gaining popularity in Europe. In 2006, George opened his own restaurant, the Press Club, in Flinders St, Melbourne where he wants to show that Greek food is something for Melbourne Greeks to be proud of and is more than grilled fish, Greek salad, fish-nets and retsina.

He loves to serve all sorts of interesting Greek dishes – moussaka, deep-fried school shrimp, grilled octopus and spanakopita. The Greek Government inspectors have inspected the restaurant to check that the standards of his Greek food uphold the highest standards of Greek culinary cooking. George is married to Anita. Mary and Jim (parents) want to know when are the “morra” arriving.

Nick Perriman (2001)

Nick has been over in Iraq for 7 months. He was deployed as a lieutenant and Infantry Platoon Commander and commanded infantry soldiers and four armoured vehicles. He was based with the Overwatch Battle Group.

He and his soldiers were involved in a lot of combat operations, either as a platoon, or as part of a company action, and on a few occasions, even as part of a Battle Group action.

Nick said that the trip to Iraq was good. However, adrenaline is always pumping, and it is a very dangerous place. He enjoyed his time over there, but is most thankful of returning to Australia safely. A number of his soldiers very narrowly escaped serious injury or death during contact with the enemy. He is currently based in Darwin, but hopes to make Singleton (NSW) his home base, thus, making it easier to visit his family in Melbourne.

Joe DiCintio & Peter Chiaravalle (1984)

Mazenod College has produced many fine chefs, Joe is one of our finest.

He is highly regarded as the master of Italian cuisine. His crispy skin Atlantic salmon signature dish leaves a lingering and lasting taste in “bocca”. Joe, married to Laura has two children, Max and Talia.

Drop in and let Joe arouse your tastebuds at one of the restaurants he runs with his long-term business partner, Peter Chiaravalle.

They have opened Sapor in Chadstone and Spencer Street, Arco in Moorabbin with Arco in Lyndhurst opening very soon. Peter and Anna recently became the proud parents of a gorgeous baby girl, Ava. Pete, welcome to the joys of fatherhood.

Dominic Perissinotto (1984)

Dominic is an organist, conductor and musical director at the Basilica of St Patrick in Fremantle (where Fr John Sherman OMI is Parish Priest). The Basilica Choir he conducts is a mix of professional and amateur singers. He is an outstanding organist and each year he organizes and plays at the Pipe Organ Plus Concert Series, held at the Basilica, now in its seventh year.

Dominic has had extensive overseas experience performing as an organist and in musical ensembles.
